"Golden Rod" Wedding. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MEGANEX, VA., September 29.—A beautiful "golden rod" marriage was celebrated on September 23 at 3 o'clock P. M. in Ashbury Methodist Church here, Rev. W. E. Grant officiating, when James Porter Haskins, a prominent young citizen of Brunswick county, married Miss Sadie Cabines, the daughter of J. A. M. Zehmer, of Dinwiddie county. Mrs. E. Spencer Hardy presided at the organ. The groom entered in a light suit, accompanied by his brother, Robert R. Haskins, as best man. The bride, beautifully gowned in messaline silk, and carrying "Marriage Vows" in her hands, came in the left aisle, upon the arm of her maid of honor, Miss Bettie B. Powell.

The church was beautifully decorated by the young women friends of the bride, under the superintendence and direction of Mrs. R. D. Powell, with an abundance of natural wild flowers, in graceful and gorgeous festoons and arches, the colors being yellow and green, with golden rod, the favorite flower of the Old Dominion, predominating.

Edward B. Haskins and Harvey Finin, of Brunswick, and George D. Powell and John T. Zehmer, of Dinwiddie, acted as ushers.

At 4 P. M., amid showers of rice and confetti, the young couple took the Seaboard northbound train for an extended tour. They will be at home to their friends in Brunswick county upon their return.

Home Wedding in Fairfax. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] FALLS CHURCH, VA., September 29.—A brilliant wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Torreyson, near here, on Wednesday at noon, when their daughter, Miss Mary Emily Torreyson, was united in marriage to Guy N. Church, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton E. Church, of Falls Church, who has officiated at the marriages in the bride's family on every occasion. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. D. H. Riddle, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Falls Church, who has officiated at the marriages in the bride's family on every occasion.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Marie Pegram, of Washington, D. C. The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Riddle, of New York, a cousin of the bride. The groomsmen were Horace N. Luttrell, of Falls Church, Miss Ruby Dege, of Washington, was at the piano. The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white satin, with a beautiful train, and carried a beautiful bride. The decorations were autumn flowers. None but the immediate relatives of the couple were present, as no invitations were issued.

The couple left in an automobile for Washington, leaving there at 3:45 P. M. for San Francisco, Cal. They will stop at Atlanta, New Orleans and other cities en route.

POSTMASTERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Attendance at Raleigh Largest in History of the Association.

SCOTCHMEN ARE LOCATED

Wealthy Citizen Placing Young Men at Points in North State.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

RALEIGH, N. C., September 29.—The Association of North Carolina Postmasters convened here this morning at 10 o'clock, with Willis G. Briggs, of Raleigh, president, and J. R. Joyce, of Raleigh, secretary-treasurer. More than 100 were present when the gavel fell, and others came in during the day, so that the attendance is the largest in the history of the association, which was organized in Raleigh three years ago. The convention has at this session a program in which an unusual number of postal officials of national reputation will take part, including Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General P. V. DeGraw, Acting Chief Post-Office Inspector Theodore Ingalls; Assistant Superintendent of Registered Mails R. P. Allen, Assistant Superintendent of City Delivery B. N. Davis, Assistant Superintendent of Railway Mail Service William T. McGinniss and President A. K. Hoag, of the National League of Postmasters of Fourth-Class Offices.

Postmasters Welcomed. The members of the association were welcomed by Mayor J. S. Wynne and Dr. Hubert A. Royster, the latter as president of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Royster sketched briefly Raleigh's progress for a year.

Some time was taken up with the enrollment of members and the appointment of committees for the session. There followed a profitable technical address by R. P. Allen, assistant superintendent of the registered mail department of the United States Post-Office Department. An address was delivered by Postmaster A. K. Hoag, of Orchard Park, N. Y., president of the National League of Postmasters of Fourth-Class Post-Offices. There was an informal discussion of points developed in the addresses. Recess was taken for a group photograph of the postmasters on the government building steps.

Barbecue Is Given. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the postmasters, as guests of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, partook of a sumptuous barbecue at the State Fair grounds, W. B. Crawford, former steward of the State Hospital, being in charge of the arrangements.

"In your apparel be modest, and endeavor to accommodate nature rather than procure admiration." George Washington.

The first lady of our White House shared this sentiment with her husband, and, like him, though fond of rich attire, was modest in her selections, and chose nothing which pleased the eye at the cost of health.

Many purchasers of Patrician Shoes are actuated by a similar principle. Their good taste has been satisfied by the reasonable styles and beautiful finish of Patrician models; but their permanent approval has been gained because this style is not secured at the expense of foot comfort.

To-night there was an address by Hon. P. V. DeGraw, Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General, treating a wide scope of matters pertaining to the official duties of postmasters and their relation to the department at Washington; also an address by Acting Chief Post-Office Inspector Theodore Ingalls.

The convention will finish its work and adjourn to-morrow about noon.

Locating Scotch Immigrants. Everard Bayley, of Edinburgh, Scotland, is spending a few days here after a visit to a number of points in the State, where he has placed young Scotch immigrants, all of whom he declares are doing remarkably well. Mr. Bayley is said to be several times a millionaire, and has for a number of years taken a deep interest in locating young men under such environment in the United States that they will be enabled to develop the best that is in them and make for themselves places in the world of affairs. He became interested in possibilities for immigrants from his historic old country in North Carolina some years ago, while the late T. C. Burner was taking such an active and effective part in the immigration interests of the State, and since then has located young Scotchmen at various points, all the way from Wilmington to Asheville.

Railroad Official Visits. L. G. Hays, agent for the receivers of the Seaboard Air Line, spent the morning in Raleigh inspecting the affairs of the Seaboard here, and left for a run over the Durham and Southern and other connections in that section of the State. He goes to Durham to-morrow, and will return here in a special train to Henderson, and after some side trips over branches of the road north of Raleigh, will go direct to the general offices of the company in Portsmouth. To parties here Mr. Hays expressed himself as much pleased with the status of the Seaboard's interests in Raleigh, and he expressed approval of proposed improvement in freight station facilities here.

Meet Next in Winston. The postmasters to-night adopted a resolution offering Postmaster Charles Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, to the effect that the association meet next year in Winston, and that the president of the association, from the four presidents of the associations of city and rural carriers with a view to having these organizations hold their annual meetings at the same time and place. The idea of having these meetings at the same time is the outgrowth of a suggestion from Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General DeGraw to-night that such a plan would generally facilitate the department at Washington in sending representatives to the conventions. He even suggested that the associations of North and South Carolina and the Seaboard be united in one convention to the mutual benefit of all.

He was devoted to his home, and went away that day with the understanding that he would return at night. He was traced as far as Abingdon, Va. Mrs. McInturff fears he has been murdered.

Lumber Plant Burned. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTE, N. C., September 29.—The plant of the Ingram Lumber Company at Taylorsville, Tradeville, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin at an early hour this morning, entailing a loss of $12,000. There was no water protection, and the flames had full sway. The watchman went home to lunch at midnight and returned to find the plant on fire. The Ingrams are heavy losers, there being no insurance.
